A KIND FAREWELL.

Probably one of the best gatherings of amateur athletes, together with the friends and patrons of amateur sports, that has ever been held in Pittsburg was that of last evening held made.

There were several toast proposed. Notable was one by the sporting editor of THE DISPATCH to Mr. P. Preston as one of the pioneers of lawn tennis in Western Pennsylvania. Mr. Preston is a member of the Lawn Tennis Committee of the three A's, and is one of the most enthusiastic admirers of that branch of sport. He claimed that he knows nothing about it, and amid cheers it was nothing about it.

He claimed that he knows nothing about it, and amid cheers it was pointed out that he was the very man to be on the committee. Mr. Preston is a promising athlete and an acknowledged humorist. Very entertaining speeches were made by Messrs. Ed Brainard, E. W. Patrick, the Vice Chairman; C. Z Wheeler, a guest; C. V. Chiids, who is also leaving for Chicago; B. C. Bakewell, Ed McKnight and others. Telegrams of regret were read from John Moorehead, President of the association, and other prominent people. The banquet was one of the most enthusiastic ever helu in Pittsburg.

"There is nothing new in the King matter," he said. "King will be here probably to-morrow. No, he has not signed a Pittsburg contract yet, nor have I had a talk with him."

Mr. O'Neil went on to say that the games at Jacksonville and St. Augustine were only exercise games. He said: "Anybody who thinks that the performance of our team in their little Florida exercise is a measure of their strength will be very badly fooled. Just wait: until the real argament starts. Of course Cleveland has a good team, but I think time will tell that they are behind Pittsburg. This is my onlinon, and let facts and work prove it. With King I have all the players I want."

A Ltttle Too Steep. CHICAGO, April 15.-The directors of the California Club do not think a contest between George Dixon, bantam champion of America and England, and Abe Willis, of Australia, i worth $5,000, which amount Dixon demands in the shape of a purse, with $500 expenses, and they inferentially informed Mr. Dixon that unless he is willing to drop off a norch or two he may consider negotiations irrevocably off. If the colored boy holds off too long it is said Willis will return to Australia and then the prospects of an international bantam contest will vanish.

Both gentlemen are PEPECIAL TELEGRAN TO THE DISPATCH.1 leaving Pittsburg to-day. Both gentlemen are nembers of the Allegheny Athletic Association. Mr. Dauson, in fact, has been the Secretary of that organization since its beginning.

Last evening members of the club and other admirers of out-door sports were present at the hanquet to shake a "farewell" hand with Messra Dauson and Macpherson. The repast was one of the best and after the cloth had been removed, Mr. Phil Lloyd, the Chairman, in a very merited and pointed speech showed how Pittsburg would be the loser by the departure of Messrs. Dauson and Macpherson. He explained how Mr. Macpherson had been one of the most prominent cricket players and one of the most prominent cricket players and one of the most prominent players in amateur sports that Pittsburg had ever possessed. Mr. Lloyd's rewarks were feelingly and well made. CHICAGO, April 15 .- As was announced in the columns of THE DISPATCH a few days ago, an attempt is now being made to put new life into the window glass trust, which was incorporated a few months ago under the name of the American Window Glass Company, with a capital stock of $400,-000, subscribed by the various factories of Pittsbug and the West. This morning a delegation of Pittsburgers, made up of J. A. Chambers, William Loeffler, C. Smith, D. O. Cunningham and C. Johnson, registered at the Auditorium, where they were joined later in the day by T. F. Hart, of Munice, Ind., who is Vice President of the American Window Glass Company; E. Baker and John Baker, of Findlay, O.; J. Baker, of Barnesville, O., and several others, beside the local officials of the United Glass Company, of Chicago, thick below the Company of Chicago, which are the Company of Chicago, the Chic which also is a stockholder in the American Window Glass Company. A meeting was held, with closed doors, of course, and about 6 o'clock an adjournment was taken until tomorrow morning.

From what was said by several of the gentle

From what was said by several of the gentle-men named, it was gathered that the cause of the meeting is the badly demoralized condition of the window glass market. The American Window Glass Company made a heroic at-tempt last fall to buy up the entire product of all the Pittsburg and the Western factories and sell them through a board of trustees at an agreed upon card rate. It failed because a few mean facturers refused to sell their product an agreed upon card rate. It falled because a few manufacturers refused to sell their product to it, and because it had no money worth speaking of in its treasury and could not make the necessary purchases on long time credits, and because certain manufacturers, who promised to support it, neglected and refused to come to time at a critical moment.

Since that time prices have fallen 20 and 25 percent and certain manufacturers that per cent, and certain manufacturers, that run on small capital, fell into their old habit of selling their entire product to Chicago brokers at the cost of manufacture, in order to realize cost. With an increased demand for glass and cost. With an increased demand for glass and a slight tendency toward higher prices, the gentlemen now in session hope to put the trust on its feet again, or to devise some scheme by which prices of window glass may be raised and kept up to a point which shall be satisfactory to the makers.

At to-day's meeting the United Glass Company took the ground that this could be done only by the formation of a corporation and the transfer to it absolutely of all competing factories, so that the Western market would be dependent for its supply on a single concern, which could fix the price to suit itself; but thus far they have not been able to bring the rest up to the sticking point.

License to Preach. The Pittsburg Presbytery of the Reformed Presbyterian Church, meeting at Beaver, yes-terday revoked the license of Rev. John A. Burnett, who was suspended last December for refusing to answer certain questions at the last meeting of the Presbytery, and also for expressing his sympathy with and adherence to the famous East End platform, wherein members and ministers of the Reformed Pres byterian Church are allowed the right of suf frage. He was given an opportunity to answer frage. He was given an opportunity to answer the questions put to him at the former meeting and also to retract certain statements he had made. He refused point blank to do either, and submitted the case without offering or denying anything.

A motion was made to refuse Mr. Burnett a license and that he be suspended from the Reformed Presbyterian Church. Considerable discussion ensued upon the motion. A minister thought the better plan would be to let the Synod settle it. This did not suit the delegates and the motion was carried by a fair majority. Mr. Burnett, in a few vigorous words, defended his position, and gave notice that he would make an appeal to the Synod at the next meeting.

LIQUOR DAY IN THE LEGISLATURE.

The New Wholesale License Bill Causes a Lively Session.

PROSPECTS FOR ITS PASSAGE BETTER

IFROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. I HARRISBURG, April 15 .- Governor Pattison transmitted to the Legislature to-day papers relative to the direct tax due the State under the recent act of Congress. They consist of a copy of the law, correspondence between Secretary Harrity and Nead, State Financial Agent at Washing-Under date of March 18, Mr. Harrity wrote Mr. Blaine inquiring whether it would be necessary for the Legislature to take any steps toward obtaining the money due Pennsylvania under the direct tax bill "prior to the receipt of official notification and information through your department or otherwise of the passage of said act." The inquiry was evidently made to the wrong department, for on April 3 Secretary Foster replied to the letter sent to Secretary Blaine, informing Mr. Harrity that no money can be paid "until the Legislature shall have accepted, by resolution, the sum appropriated and the trusts imposed by the act, in full satisfaction of all claims against the United States on account of the levy and collection of said tax, and shall authorize the Governor to receive said money for the use and purposes described in the act." Goes Into the State Treasury. The amount due the State was given as $1,654,711. Financial Agent Nead's report details the manner in which the direct tax was levied, and shows that, as the State was at that time a creditor of the United States Government in the sum of over $5,000,000 advanced for the equipment of troops, etc., the amount due from Pennsylvania was simply deducted from the sum due to her by e National Government, and, as no levy for this tax was made upon individual citizens, no trust is therefore created for the return of no trust is therefore created for the return of the tax to those persons from whom it was collected, or their legal representatives. Consequently, the money refunded goes to the State Treneary, whence it was originally paid out. So far as the paying of commissions for the collection of the direct tax due the State under this bill, as discussed in a Washington letter in to-day's DISPATCH is concerned, section 3 of the direct tax bill would seem to settle the matter conclusively. It reads: "Provided further, that no part of the money hereby appropriated shall be paid out by the Governor of any State or Terri-ory, or any other person, to any attorney or agent under any contract for services now existing or heretofore made between the representative of any State or Terri-services now existing or heretofore made between the representative of any State or Territors and any attorney or agent."

Judge Lewis S. Wells was State Financial Agent at Washington for some years prior to 1881, when Governor Pattison appointed B. M. Nead, of Harrisourg. Mr. Nead served until 1887, when Governor Beaver reappointed Judge Wells. Unon the statement of a member of Governor Beaver reappointed Judge Wells. Unon the statement of a member of Governor Beaver expressly stipulated that he should have no right of compensation for money recovered on the claim for direct tax.

A New Appointment Already.

Under these circumstances it is hard to see Judge Lewis S. Wells was State Financial Agent at Washington for some, years prior to 1883, when Governor Pattison appointed B. M. Nead, of Harrisourg. Mr. Nead served until 1887, when Governor Beaver reappointed Judge Wells. Unon the Statement of a member of Governor Beaver's Cabinet, it may be said that he authority gives to Judge Wells to acc as State agent, Governor Beaver expressly stipulated that he should have no right of compensated that he should have no right of compensated.

Under these circumstances it is hard to see w Judge Wells could expect to receive $170, 000 or any compensation at all for the collection of the money now coming to the State under this bill. The appointment of a successor to Judge Wells is not under consideration, as it has been made already. Governor Pattison, a few days after his inauguration, reappointed Mr. Nead to succeed Judge Wells, and he is now serving in that capacity.

The compensation is a matter left by law to the Auditor General and State Treasurer. They fix it, and the Governor has nothing to do with it. All contracts heretofore made with the State agents have fixed a graduated some cases but I per cent has been paid. This would prevent exorbitant fees, even if large sums were collected, which has not yet been the case.

Mr. Nead said to-day that neither he nor Judge Wells had any idea of getting any ex-travagant tee for their services as State agents, All that Mr. Nead expects is reasonable com-All that Mr. Nead expects is reasonable compensation for his time and expenses. Thus far, for almost five years service, he has received less than 5900. His expenses have been about $2,000, part of which was for the printing of paser books there in the direct tax matter, bills for its repayment having been introduced at several sessions of Congress.

The Senate Finance Committee met to-day and reported affirmatively the Ritter resolution, passed by the House six weeks ago amending it so that the Governor is authorized to receive the money due the State and pay it into the State Treasury. Henry Hall.

TAGGART TAX BILL.

Leonard Rhone's Argument in Favor of the Pending Measure, IFROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.

HARRISBURG, April 15.-The Senate Finance Committee took up the Taggart tax bill this afternoon. The hearing was held in the Senate chamber. Hon, Leonard Rhone, Master of the State Grange, made the first argument, present ing statistics to show the inequalities in taxation and the undue burdens imposed upon real estate. He argued that the proposed law was just and equitable, and would largely remedy the evils under which the agricultural interest now labors. Mr. Taggart maintained that the measure had been grievously misrepresented, and was in no respect the inquisitorial bill its enemies said it was. It did not press unjustly upon the manufacturing interests, It only asked them to bear the same burdens the larming interests had to bear. He had always been their friend, and was willing even to build around the manufacturing interests the "Chinese wall" of protection, but he was not willing to exempt them from their share of laxation. measure had been grievously misrepresented,

R. H. Thomas, Secretary of the State Grange,

It. H. Thomas, Secretary of the State Grange, warned the Republican Senators of the troubles likely to ensue, should the party in power fail to afford the farming interests just relief. If the old parties would not heed their appeals for justice, they would have to look elsewhere. No action was taken by the committee. The Philadelphia Board of Trade will send a delegation against it next Treeslay.

Mr. Taggart said to-night that there was a reaction for the bill all over the State. The opposition had been oversione. Senator Finn had soid him that from what he had read he had supposed the bill a very had one, but he had rend it over and could see little if anything wrong with it. Mr. Taggart said the friends of the bill were willing to have it amended to meet the general demand. They would exempt the unsold products of manufacturers and also unsold agricultural products. They were also willing to increase the amount of exemption from $200 to such sum as should seen just. Ohe thing, however, they would object to and that was sielsy in reporting the bill. It it was to be thing, however, they would object to and that was delay in reporting the bill. It it was to be defeated, they wanted it done as soon as possable. He would oppose fixing any time for adjournment until the bill had been disposed of finally.

An Amendment to Shut Out the Small Bot tlers in Various Places-The House Votes in Favor of the Bill-It Will Probably

IFROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT, 1 HARRISBURG, April 15 .- Any question relative to the sale of intoxicating liquors can be relied upon to raise a breeze in either house. It was so to-day when Mr. Brooks' wholesale license bill came up in the House on second reading. Mr. McNeelis moved to amend by fixing bottlers' licenses at $300 in all cities, instead of $500 in cities of the first, second and third classes, and $300 in all others, arguing that the original bill would drive small bottlers out of the business. Mr. Brooks said the $500 fee was approved by a delegation from the Bottlers' Association of Philadelphia, on the ground that it would shut out the worst class of bottlers. Under the decision of the Supreme Court they could not be denied a license in the counties of Philadelphia and Allegheny, but the increased fee would drive Mr. Pattison, of Philadelphia, charged that the bill was a "squeezer," intended solely to drive the poorer bottlers of Philadelphia out of the business. The amendment was carrie by a vote of 59 to 63. Mr. McNeels then moved to Secretary Foster, and the report of B. M. of the business. The amendment was carrie by a vote of 89 to 68. Mr. MgNeelis then moved to strike out the provision exempting browers and distillers bottling their own products from taking out a bottlers license, which was also agreed to. Mr. Flad then moved to strike out the provision allowing wholesalers to deliver their goods by their own conveyance, "in any part of the county where the license is granted," and insert, "in any part of the Commonweath."

Upon this there was a warm discussion. Mr. Talbot said the effect of the amendment would be demoralizing in the extreme. Pass this amendment and you would simply put saloons on wheels and send them all over the State. The yeas and nays were called and the amendment defeated by a tie vote—81 to 81.

Mr. Fow had an amendment inserted requiring delivery wagons to bear the name of the dealer and the number of his license in letters not less than four inches long. He said the object of this amendment was to prevent the delivery of liquor to "speak-casies."

Mr. Walton made a very carnest appeal to the members to go at the question calmly and proventially. Mr. Walton's appeal account of the second.

Mr. Walton made a very earnest appeal to the members to go at the question calmly and practically. Mr. Walton's appeal seemed to recall members to their senses, and thereafter but few amendments were made, one being that presented by Mr. Cotton, of Allegheny, permitting any one member of a firm of distillers to take out a wholesale license in the county where the distillery is located, and another presented by Mr. Morrison, of Philadelphia, recovering that all remonstrances against the quiring that all remonstrances against the grauting of licenses be sworn to in the same manner as petitions therefor, and that all per-sons wilfully making false statements therein be made liable to prosecution for perjury.

On motion of Mr. Elwood, of Westmoreland, a provision was added repealing all special laws inconsistent with the new law. This is to reneal the Westmoreland wholesale act, which forbids wholesalers selling in quantities less than five gallous. The bill passed second reading, after one of the hottest fights of the session. It looked at first as though it would never pass finally, but since the amendments have been made its prospects for becoming a law are much brighter.

COLONEL ANTHONY ASSAULTED. The Fiery Kunsas Politician Again Nearly Loses His Life. LEAVENWORTH, April 15 .- William Fortes cue, late Republican candidate for Mayor in this city, made an attack upon Colonel Anthony, this evening, with the evident intention rdering him. The man met at the corner of Fourth and Delaware streets, and Fortescue approached Authory, asking him if he was armed. Colonel Authory replied that he was aimed five or six blows in quick succession at Anthony's head. The blows were warded off so that they did little damage.

A bystander then interfered and stopped the assault. With an invitation to wait a few minutes, Colonel Anthony proceeded to the Times office and procured a revolver, and within ten minutes was back, but Fortescue did not wait. He was gone. During the late campaign Colonel Authony supported the People's party candidates in opposition to Fortescue. Fortescue was defeated, and it is supposed that it was on this account that Anthony was attacked. not. Fortescue then drew a slung-shot and

ation in the American Whist Congress was in creased to-day by the arrival of many additional elegates. It was decided that no club should be allowed voting representation hereafter uness represented by one of its own members. A letter from N. B. Trist, the New Orleans au-thority, recommended Cavendish as the best authority in getting up an American text work for whist. There was a lively discussion as to the possibility of ascertaining the comparative strength of individual players, P. F. Foster, of New York, being almost alone in supporting

New York, being almost alone in supporting the affirmative side of the question, while others thought the variations in whist made each player so dependent on his partner that it is impossible.

The individual contest for the Streeter prize took place this afternoon. There were 48 hands, and it resulted in a tie between Price Townsend, of the Hamilton Club, Philadelphia; W. P. Stewart, of the Detroit Whist Club, and C. D. Hamilton, of the Pomfret Club, Pennsylvania, each of whom lost only 10 tricks out of 576 hands. The tie will have to be played off. At 8 o'clock to-night a match between the Milwaukee Whist Club and the visiting delegates at duplicate whist was begun. Will Start Ethel. CHICAGO, April 15 .- At a late hour, as alleged, it was decided by the owners of Roseland not to start their colt in the Derby, and about the same time a rumor that Ed Comigan might start Ethel became current. She is in very fine trim, and it is believed that if she starts she will be a formidable andidate in her work.

This morning she ran a mile in 1:45 very handily, a much faster trial than Mr. Corrigan intended to give her. If she shows no signs of soreness from this she will be likely to come to
